

Have a Little Faith
Lyrics and music by Ben Hassenger
© 2026

You gotta have a little faith
To get out of bed every morning
Have a little faith
To face an uncertain day
Trust in yourself
And the spirits that guide you
Have a little faith
It will all be okay

On the edge of your seat
When's the shoe gonna drop
What's coming next
Is that balloon gonna pop
Does the hero come through
Is the villain 'bout to win
Fearing for the worst
Nail-biting

Trapped in trepidation
Beyond your control
Outside your command
Inevitable
Mouth agape
All agog
Is this the end
Or the prologue

Faith can be a leap
Faith can be a step
A straight path or a winding road
As you walk ahead
Faith can be a bridge
To help you cross
Those troubled waters
You won't get lost

Faith can be tested
Faith can be fragile
Faith is a passage, not always
Easy to travel
Faith can be challenged
Seem silly, naive
Faith's a blind quiet power
In which you believe

You gotta have a little faith
To get out of bed every morning
Have a little faith
To face an uncertain day
Trust in yourself
And the spirits that guide you
Have a little faith, spread your wings
And fly your own way
Have a little faith
It will all be okay